

Rendering Property

Public Service Announcement: 30 seconds

Airdate: Feb. 1 – April 15

Suggested copy:

Business owners have to file annual property tax renditions with the (Name) Appraisal District. To render is to simply list the taxable inventory, equipment and other property a business owned or managed as of Jan. 1. Filing a rendition late, incomplete or not at all could result in a 10 to 50 percent penalty. Rendition deadlines vary by county and property type and range from April 15 to April 30. Don't get hit with a penalty. Contact (NAME) Appraisal District for rendition forms, deadlines and details about rendering your property.

Generic version:

Business owners have to file annual property tax renditions with their appraisal district. To render is to simply list the taxable inventory, furniture, equipment and other property a business owned or managed as of Jan. 1. Filing a rendition late, incomplete or not at all could result in a 10 to 50 percent penalty. Rendition deadlines vary by county and property type and range from April 15 to April 30. Don't get hit with a penalty. Contact your appraisal district for rendition forms, deadlines and details about rendering property.