The Honorable Greg Abbott, Governor
The Honorable Dan Patrick, Lieutenant Governor
The Honorable Joe Straus, Speaker of the House
Members of the Texas Legislature
Texas Economic Development Corporations

Fellow Texans:

I am pleased to present this biennial report on the activities of economic development corporations (EDCs) in Texas, as required by the Development Corporation Act of 1979, as amended.

Each year, EDCs are required to submit a one-page Economic Development Corporation Report to the Comptroller. Our office then compiles two years of information into a biennial report presented to the Legislature on or before November 1 of each even-numbered year.

City sales tax revenue dedicated to economic development totaled $747 million in fiscal 2016 and $763.6 million in fiscal 2017. City sales tax revenue continues to be the state's primary local revenue source for economic development.

The Comptroller's Data Analysis and Transparency Division appreciates the cooperation of EDC staff and governing boards as well as the city officials who were instrumental in gathering and reporting the information in this report. We commend their dedication to creating and maintaining a strong climate for economic development in their communities and our state.

This report is available on the Comptroller's website at comptroller.texas.gov/transparency/reports/economic-development-corporation/.

I hope you find this report helpful.

Sincerely,

Executive Summary

The Comptroller's office administers the economic development sales tax program and offers various economic development tools and resources to assist businesses, local government entities and economic development professionals in expanding the Texas economy.

The Comptroller's Data Analysis and Transparency Division supports local governments' economic development efforts in Texas. The division offers technical assistance, informative publications, webinars and workshops on tax-related state and local economic development programs the Comptroller's office administers. Division staff members collaborate with other state agencies to offer accredited training to economic development professionals including the Basic Economic Development Course and the statutorily required Economic Development Sales Tax Seminar.

The Comptroller's office also offers an online resource, Comptroller.Texas.Gov, which provides a wealth of information on state and local finances and numerous other tools and data sources to support economic growth in communities throughout Texas. Comptroller.Texas.Gov is a one-stop center providing key statistics affecting the Texas economy, including economic news, forecasts and more.

Due to the agency's role as administrator of the economic development sales tax programs, the Legislature has charged the Comptroller's office with compiling this informative report on economic development corporations (EDCs) each biennium.

History of Type A and Type B Economic Development Corporations

Since the adoption of the Development Corporation Act in 1979, Texas law has allowed cities to form economic development corporations to attract businesses and create job opportunities. The Legislature amended the act in 1989 and again in 1991 to allow eligible cities to adopt dedicated sales and use taxes to fund EDCs. In 2009, the act was recodified to Chapters 501 through 505 of the Local Government Code. With the recodification, EDCs formerly known as 4A and 4B corporations are now referred to as "Type A" and "Type B" corporations, respectively.

Reporting Requirement

In 1997, the Texas Legislature added a provision to the Development Corporation Act that requires EDCs to report their financial activities to the Comptroller's office. In each even-numbered year since 1998, the Comptroller's office has prepared a report for the Legislature summarizing the data submitted by EDCs during the preceding biennium. The statute requires all Type A and B corporations to file an annual report with the Comptroller's office by Feb. 1 of each year, with data from the previous fiscal year.

In December of each year, the Comptroller's office provides email notice to all known Type A and Type B corporations, including those in cities that held successful elections for the adoption of one or both sales taxes in the prior year. The notice contains an electronic access code and instructions for filing the report.

The Act restricts the report form to a single page in length (Appendix L). New Type A and B corporations may file their reports by mail, email or fax. To improve reporting efficiency and accuracy, existing corporations may file electronically only via a secure website with a unique log-in code for each corporation that changes annually. The form and the reporting history for each corporation may be viewed at mycpa.cpa.state.tx.us/edcr/EdcrSearch.jsp.

The Type A & Type B Sales Tax Data and Analysis

EDCs filed 730 reports for fiscal 2016 and 728 for fiscal 2017 (Appendices A and B). The city of Bartlett imposes a Type B sales tax, but did not file reports for either fiscal year. Bartlett is not included in the analysis. The city of Fort Worth has a Type B Corporation but does not impose a dedicated sales tax.

In all, total reported corporation revenue rose by 2.5 percent from the prior biennium, to more than $2.1 billion. In the same period, expenditures rose by 12.3 percent, to nearly $2 billion. This report provides a statewide analysis of the EDC revenue, expenditures, capital assets, economic development objectives and year-end fund balances for fiscal 2016 and 2017. In addition, appendices arranged by corporation type and city name provide the detailed data reported.

Sources of Funds

In fiscal 2016 and 2017, sales tax was the major source of revenue for both types of economic development corporations (Appendices F and G). These receipts totaled $747 million in fiscal 2016 and accounted for 70.1 percent of all corporation revenues. Sales tax receipts rose to $763.6 million in fiscal 2017 and the sales tax's share of total revenues rose to 72.7 percent. Sales tax proceeds increased a combined $16.5 million or 2.2 percent from fiscal 2016 to fiscal 2017.

The second largest revenue source for all corporations in fiscal 2016 and fiscal 2017 was bond proceeds/loans. Revenue in this category fell by $44.2 million or 20.3 percent during the biennium.

When examined separately, however, Type A and B corporations differed in the revenue received from bond proceeds/loans. While Type A corporations saw these funds increase by $17.5 million or 34.7 percent from fiscal 2016 to fiscal 2017, funds from this category fell by $61.8 million or 37 percent for Type B corporations (Exhibit 1).

Funds from all revenue sources for Type A and B corporations fell by a combined $14.6 million or 1.4 percent from fiscal 2016 to fiscal 2017. Separately, however, Type A corporations experienced a revenue increase of 7 percent or $25.5 million, while Type B corporations saw revenues decline by $40.1 million or 5.7 percent (Exhibit 1).

Exhibit 2 illustrates the relative importance of various revenue sources for Type A corporations by city size as a percentage of total corporation revenue. The importance of sales taxes as a revenue source was affected primarily by changes in the amount of revenue gained from bond proceeds/loans and other revenue

What is the Type A Sales Tax?

The Type A sales tax essentially is limited to funding industrial and manufacturing facilities, research and development facilities, recycling facilities, distribution centers, small warehouse facilities, military facilities, job training, targeted infrastructure, regional or national headquarters facilities, business airport facilities and port-related facilities. Expenditures for such infrastructure must be related to an authorized activity under the act.

The statute also allows a Type A EDC to undertake most Type B projects without having to change from a Type A to a Type B corporation. To make such a change, the city council must publish notice, hold a public hearing and obtain voter approval. Voter approval isn't required if the Type A corporation is located in a city that also operates a Type B corporation and has a population of 7,500 or less. At the end of fiscal 2017, 218 cities had adopted the Type A economic development sales tax.

What is the Type B Sales Tax?

A Type B sales tax offers greater flexibility in revenue use. Generally, allowable Type B expenditures include those available under Type A as well as projects that contribute to the quality of life in the community, such as park-related facilities, professional and amateur sports and athletic facilities, tourism and entertainment facilities, affordable housing or other improvements that promote new or expanded business enterprises that create or retain primary jobs. At the end of fiscal 2017, 510 cities operated Type B EDCs.

Cities must seek voter approval to levy a Type A, Type B or both economic development sales taxes. State law requires a city that adopts either or both to establish a corporation to administer and oversee the expenditure of the sales tax proceeds. A board of directors appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the city's governing body oversees the EDC. The city must deliver economic development sales tax revenues to the EDC upon receipt of the funds from the Comptroller's office. The EDC board of directors is responsible for all decisions regarding the use of these revenues and projects undertaken. The city council retains final oversight authority, though, and must approve the EDC's programs and expenditures.

categories. In fiscal 2016, for example, cities with populations of 15,001 to 30,000, received 44.5 percent of their revenues from bond proceeds/loans, compared with 43.6 percent for sales tax. In 2017, sales tax revenues represented 57.8 percent of total revenues, due to a sharp decline in revenues from bond proceeds/loans. The impact on the sales tax shares was diminished by a rise in the contribution of other revenue from 8.3 percent to 21.1 percent.

The impact of changes in revenue from bond proceeds/loans on the percentage of revenue from sales tax is most notable in the category of cities with populations of 30,001 to 75,000. In this example, a 19.5 percent rise in revenue from bond proceeds/loans was the primary cause of a 21.7 percent decline in the sales tax's relative share of revenues.

Exhibit 3 shows revenue sources for Type B corporations as a percentage of total revenue, again by city size. As with Type A corporations, revenue from bond proceeds/loans had a substantial impact on Type B corporation revenue. The impact varied depending on fiscal year and city size, however. For example, for cities with populations of 5001 to 15,000 and 15,001 to 30,000, the contribution of bond proceeds/loans rose by 17.1 percent and 24.6 percent, respectively, between fiscal 2016 and fiscal 2017. On the other hand, cities with populations of 30,001 to 75,000 and more than 75,000 saw the share of revenue from bond proceeds/loans fall by 11 percent and 28 percent, respectively.

Expenditures

The 730 Type A and B corporations reported expenditures of $973.6 million in fiscal 2016 (Appendix H and Exhibit 4).

Expenditures reported by the 728 corporations in fiscal 2017 rose by 1.6 percent to $989.1 million (Appendix I and Exhibit 4).

All corporations combined and Type A and Type B corporations separately reported increases in expenditures for personnel, marketing and promotion and direct business incentives from fiscal 2016 to fiscal 2017. Similarly, all corporations combined and Type A and Type B corporations separately reported spending less on job training, affordable housing, payments to taxing units and “other.” Type A and Type B corporations saw divergent trends for each of the remaining expenditure categories. For example, Type A corporations boosted expenditures for administration by $519,000 and debt service by $27 million. Type B corporations saw lower expenditures in both categories. Type B corporations increased their spending for capital costs by $19.5 million, while Type A spending in this category declined.

It is often useful to examine expenditure categories as a percentage of total expenditures to see how categories are changing in relation to one another. Type A corporations expend a much larger percentage of their total expenditures on direct business incentives than Type B corporations (Exhibit 5). In fiscal 2016 and 2017, the difference was 18.2 percent and 20.1 percent, respectively. On the other hand, Type B corporations spent a significantly larger percentage of expenditures on capital costs than Type A corporations. Type B corporation expenditures in this category exceeded Type A corporation expenditures by 7.1 percent in fiscal 2016 and 15 percent in fiscal 2017.

The share of funds by category varied significantly among cities of different sizes in fiscal 2016 and fiscal 2017 (Exhibits 6 and 7). Type A and Type B corporations located in cities with larger populations generally used a lower percentage of expenditures for personnel and administration than those in smaller cities, likely due to the increased efficiency of larger organizations.

Type A corporations generally spent a higher share of their funds on direct business incentives than did Type B corporations. This held true for all EDCs except those located in cities with populations from 5,001 to 15,000 in fiscal 2017.

On the other hand, Type B corporations' payments to taxing units exceeded those of Type A corporations as a percentage of total expenditures in fiscal 2016 in each city population category. The result was nearly the same in fiscal 2017, except that Type A EDCs in cities with populations of 0 to 5,000 spent a larger percentage of funds in this category than Type B EDCs.

Type A and B corporations diverged in the share of expenditures devoted to debt service. In both fiscal years, Type B corporations spent a greater share of total expenditures on this category than Type A EDCs in cities with populations of less than 30,000. Type A corporations in cities with populations of 30,001 to 75,000 spent more on debt service than Type B corporations in both fiscal years. For corporations in cities with populations above 75,000, Type Bs spent more on debt service in fiscal 2016 while Type As spent more in fiscal 2017.

State law caps marketing and promotional expenditures by both Type A and Type B corporations at 10 percent of annual revenues, except under certain circumstances. The limit is 25 percent of revenues for a Type A city that:

- has municipal limits including two counties;
- has less than 24,250 residents, according to the 1990 federal census; and
- is located within 10 miles of a federal military reservation.

Reports for fiscal 2016 indicate that 21 of the 219 Type A corporations spent more than 10 percent of their revenues for marketing and promotion. Seven Type A EDCs exceeded 20 percent. Of the 511 Type B corporations reporting in fiscal 2016, 55 exceeded the 10 percent threshold and 26 exceeded 20 percent of revenues. (Appendix J).

In fiscal 2017, 15 of the 218 Type A corporations reported marketing and promotion expenses above the 10 percent cap, with six exceeding 20 percent. For the 510 Type B corporations reporting that year, 58 exceeded the 10 percent limit and 30 exceeded 20 percent.

The average expenditure for marketing and promotion for Type A corporations was 3.8 percent of total revenues in fiscal 2016 and 3.7 percent in fiscal 2017. For Type B corporations, the average was 1.5 percent of total revenues in fiscal 2016, rising to 1.7 percent in fiscal 2017.

While most Type A and Type B corporations appear to be complying with the limitation on marketing and promotional expenses, the act does not require a corporation to prove it qualifies for an exception to the statute, or provide any penalty for those that exceed the limit. It also should be noted that some corporations exceeding the statutory limit may have carried forward unused revenues budgeted for marketing and promotion from previous fiscal years. Attorney General Opinion GA-0086 states:

...a corporation that chooses to spend revenues for promotional purposes may spend up to 10 percent of its annual revenues for that purpose or may set all or some of these funds aside in a promotional purposes account. A corporation that set aside revenues in such an account could spend those past year revenues along with the allowable percentage of its current annual revenues for promotional purposes without violating the cap.

Primary Economic Development Objectives

In fiscal 2016 and 2017, most EDCs listed more than one primary economic development objective (Appendix C), with only slight variations in selections between fiscal years. Job creation/retention was the preferred objective for Type A EDCs. Type B corporations favored infrastructure projects, followed by job creation/retention. Sports facilities/recreation and tourism were popular third and fourth choices for Type B corporations, while relatively few Type A EDCs selected these categories (Exhibit 8).

Types of Capital Assets

Capital assets for fiscal 2016 and 2017 are reported in Appendices D and E. In fiscal 2017, 540 of 728 corporations

Corporation Fiscal Year

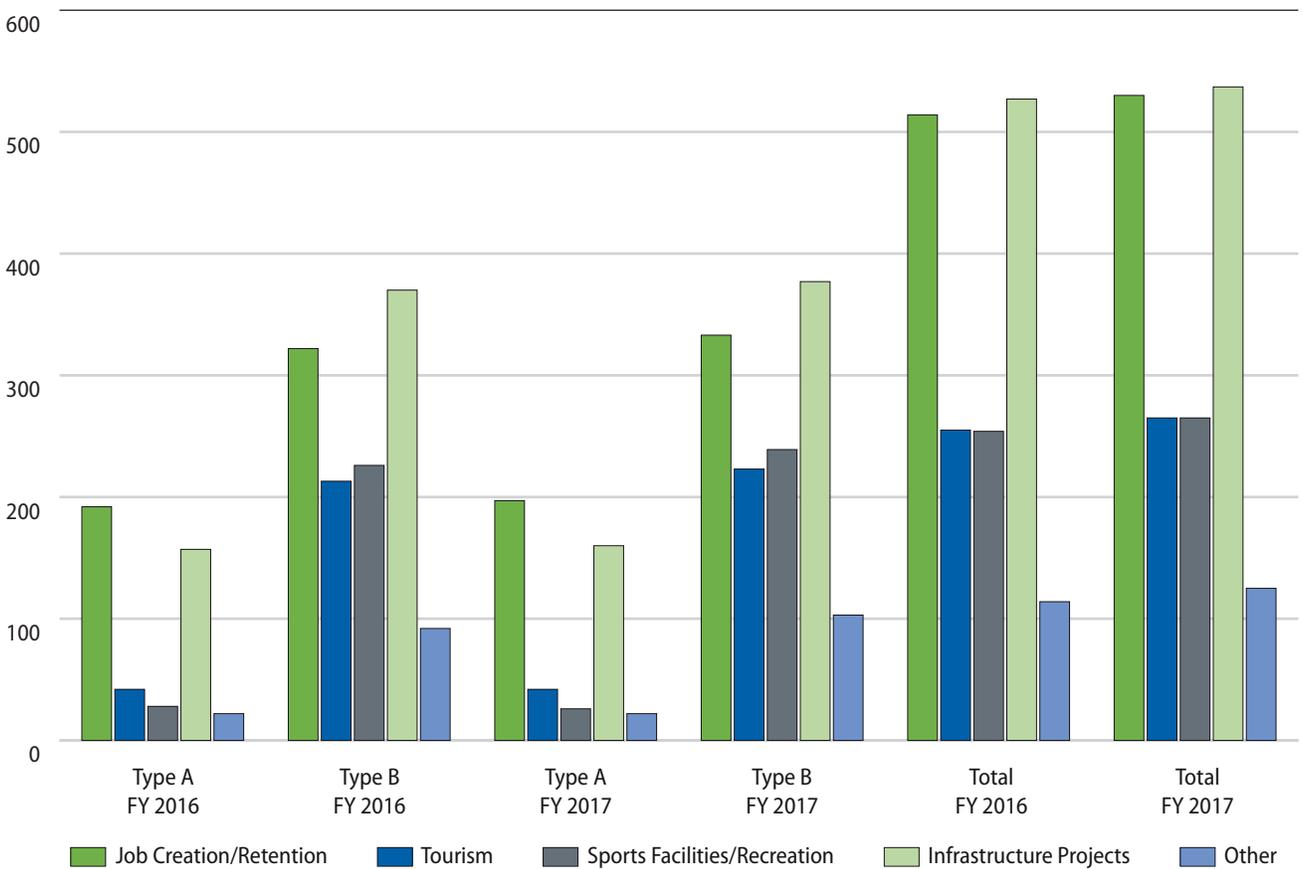

Most corporations adopted a fiscal year corresponding to that of their sponsoring city. Of the 728 corporations reporting in fiscal 2017, 683 or 94 percent listed Oct. 1 through Sept. 30 as their fiscal year. Twenty corporations (3 percent) use the calendar year as their fiscal year. Twenty-five corporations adopted other fiscal years, accounting for the remaining 3 percent.

For more information about the authority and responsibilities of Type A and Type B corporations, refer to Comptroller publication #96-302, Economic Development Sales Tax, available at comptroller.texas.gov/economy/docs/96-302.pdf; or contact the Comptroller's Data Analysis and Transparency Division at 512-463-4679.

reported capital assets. The most common capital asset was land, reported by 362 EDCs. Other capital assets included buildings (168), “other” (167), equipment (138), industrial parks/sites (135), commercial buildings (129) and recreational facilities (94). The number of reported assets exceeded the total number of corporations because many reported owning more than one asset type.

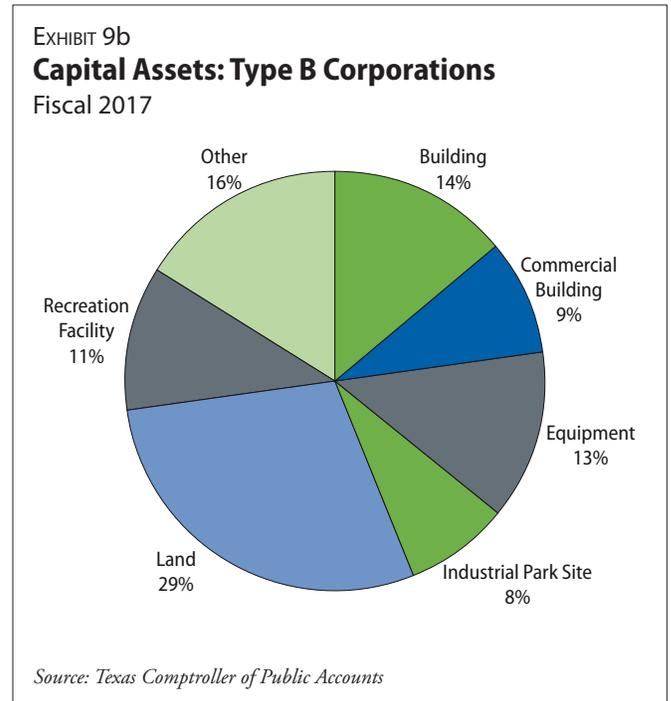

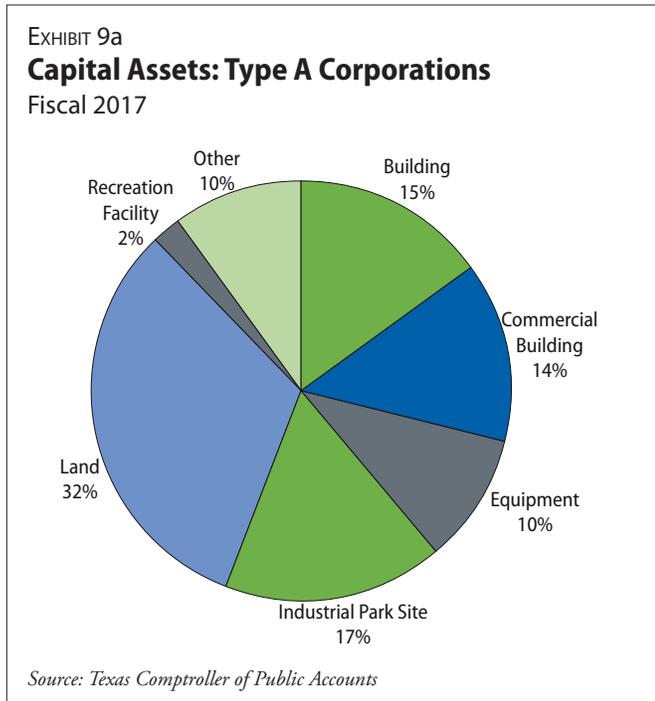

There was a significant difference between the share of Type A and Type B corporations reporting capital assets. In fiscal 2017, 173 or 79 percent of the 218 Type A corporations reporting owned capital assets, compared to 367 or 72 percent of the 510 Type B corporations. This disparity could be the result of some Type B corporations spending funds on assets transferred to the city upon completion, such as park-related projects.

Exhibits 9a and 9b show assets owned by the two types of corporations in fiscal 2017. A comparison shows the relative differences between the types of assets owned by Type A and B corporations. The largest disparity is found in categories pertaining to the ownership of real property. Ownership of industrial parks/sites was much more common among Type A corporations, at 17 percent compared to 8 percent for Type B corporations. Type A corporations also had a greater share in the categories of land and commercial buildings. Type B corporations more commonly owned recreational facilities, equipment and “other.”

Corporation Fund Balances

Beginning in fiscal 2006, the Comptroller’s office asked each corporation to report its year-end unrestricted fund balance or unrestricted retained earnings (Appendix K). These are funds that have not been formally designated by the board of directors for a project cost or other expenditure during the fiscal year. Fund balances may carry over from year to year and may be positive, negative or zero, depending on the accounting method used by the EDC.

In fiscal 2016, the 219 Type A corporations reporting had combined fund balances of $560.1 million. This total fell to $549.1 million for the 218 Type A corporations reporting fund balances in fiscal 2017.

The 511 Type B corporations reporting in fiscal 2016 had total fund balances of more than $695.5 million. For fiscal 2017, 510 reporting Type B corporations recorded year-end fund balances totaling nearly $679.8 million.

In all, Type A and Type B corporations reported fund balances of more than $1.2 billion at the end of fiscal 2017.

Growth of the Sales Tax for Economic Development

As many Texas cities reach the 2 percent local sales tax cap, growth in the number of new Type A and B corporations has stalled (Exhibit 10). Between fiscal 1997 and 2017, the total number of EDCs rose by 392, for an average increase of 19.6 per year. Of this increase, 328 were new Type B corporations, for an average of 16.4 per year. For Type A EDCs, the average change was 3.2 per year, for a net increase of 64 corporations.

One factor affecting the rate of increase is competition from other types of sales tax. Sales tax ballot initiatives may take place up to twice per year if initiated by a city council or upon a successful petition by a community’s registered voters. The result may make it impossible to impose any further local sales taxes, or lead to the abolition of existing ones.

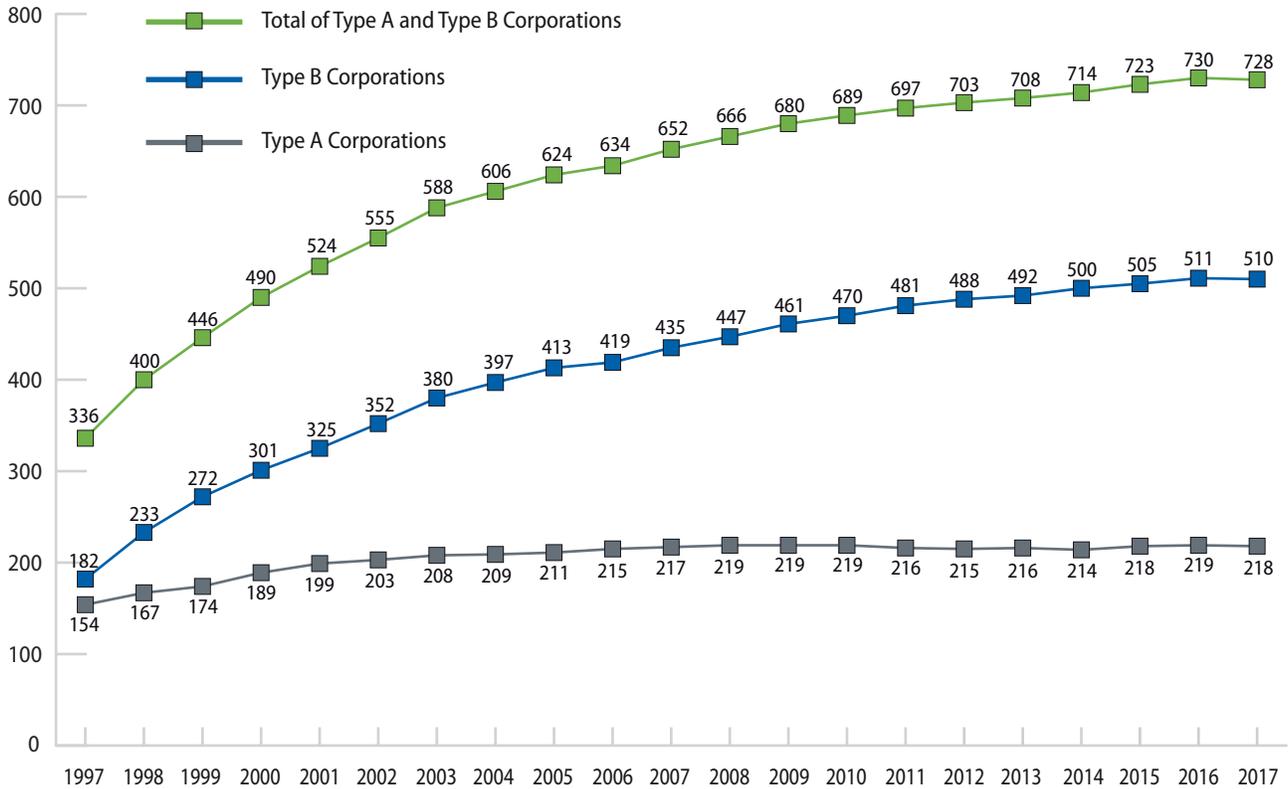

For example, in 2016 the cities of Brownwood and Early abolished Type A sales taxes and reallocated the revenue to municipal development districts. In the same year, Rio Vista abolished the Type A sales tax and imposed a sales tax for street maintenance and repair. In 2017, the city of Anson reduced the rate of both its Type A and Type B sales taxes to impose a sales tax for street maintenance and repair. The cities of Higgins, Sundown, Lakewood Village and Leon Valley abolished Type B sales taxes to increase the sales tax rate dedicated to the general fund.

By the end of fiscal 2017, 366 Texas cities had adopted the sales tax for property tax relief; 237 cities had adopted the sales tax for street maintenance and repair; 31 cities had adopted the sales tax for municipal development; and 10 imposed sales tax to fund construction of sports or community venues.
